St. Augustine Amphitheater

This magnificent concert, "T'was the Flight Before Christmas: Christmas Magic Under the Stars" will provide an evening of musical entertainment for couples and families alike as you enjoy the beginning of the holiday season. Held at the beautiful newly redesigned St. Augustine Amphitheatre, the concert will provide attendees with the classic ambiance of an outdoor concert while capturing the holiday spirit. Attendees of all ages will enjoy the story line of good 'Ole St. Nick traveling from the North Pole to St. Augustine to visits the children in attendance.

Aire Traffic will take to the stage to provide not only the musical ambiance but they will also set the stage for the evening by providing a visual display. You will be able to travel with them throughout the songs as though you are watching them fly through time as the music progresses throughout the evening. Aire Traffic is as unique as it sounds. The band is comprised of air traffic controllers who incorporate a mix of jazz, horns, keyboards, drums, and of course, an aeronautical theme. As a special highlight, renowned jazz singer Dot Wilder has agreed to join the performance this year, adding an incredible strength to the lineup.

To further broaden the spectrum of this event make note that the members of Aire Traffic have given of their time and talent to provide an annual charity concert for over ten years. They began their local partnership with Children's Miracle Network back in 2004 and have continued to this date donating all proceeds to the pediatric programs of Shands Jacksonville and Wolfson Children's Hospital.
